

MAKE IT AT THE MET

PRESS RELEASE/PHOTO CALL

THE GREATEST SHOW ON EARTH COMES TO TOWN

You are invited to send a photographer to the opening of The Greatest Show on Earth – Glasgow Metropolitan’s spectacular End of Year Student Show.

Date: Tuesday 8th June 2010

Time: 5.30pm

Details: Scottish actor John Paul McGilvray (Gerry McGrade, River City) and entertainers including stilt walkers, magicians and jugglers will open the show featuring 18 exhibitions of student work.

The Greatest Show on Earth is our students chance to showcase their work to employers, family, friends, prospective and former students.

Eighteen dazzling exhibitions will be on display including Architecture, Applied Art, Jewellery, Fine Art, Graphic Design, Illustration, Interior Design, Modelmaking, Photography, Printing and Journalism to name just a few.

Students and staff are available to discuss their work and the event proves a great way to learn more about Glasgow’s largest college.

For more information visit www.glasgowmet.ac.uk or www.facebook.com/greatestshow

Ends

For more information contact:

Fiona Cochrane, Events & PR Manager, Glasgow Metropolitan College

0141 566 4107 / fiona.cochrane@glasgowmet.ac.uk

Notes to Editor:

- Glasgow Metropolitan College formed by the merger of Glasgow College of Food Technology and Glasgow College of Building & Printing, was officially launched on 7th February 2005.
- The college is a leading provider of high quality education within the food, hospitality, tourism, construction and creative industries offering full time and part time certificated and non certificated courses.
- The college is Glasgow's largest, home to over 20,000 students and 530 members of staff
- For further information on the college please visit www.glasgowmet.ac.uk
- The End of Year Show is held every June and attracts a range of visitors including family, friends, employers, prospective and former students.
- Over 1500 employers in the industries served by the college have been invited along to the Show
- Performers from the Neil Drover Agency, Glasgow will entertain visitors